Remote Control Extenders

X10 PRO

Powermid™ IR Extender Set

The Infrared Remote Control Extender includes one transmitter and one receiver. The transmitter receives signals from any infrared remote control and converts them to wireless (RF) signals. These signals are transmitted to another location in the home and received by the receiver which converts the signals back to identical infrared signals to operate your TV, stereo, CD player, cable converter, etc. This lets you control all your audio and video products using your existing remote controls, from anywhere in the home! Plug a #RX569 extender into the back of the receiver if you want to place the receiver on top of a TV or stereo etc. (instead of in front of it).
